Poul M Volther

Danish Designer

Danish designer, Volther, was heavily influenced by the Arts & Crafts movement. The Corona Chair is his most famous piece. It received wide-acclaim when it was first produced in 1964 and its popularity has continued since then

Like other successful Danish designers, Volther had a background in cabinet-making. His skill as a craftsman with a sense of form and design became a very successful combination.

Corona was the chair used by the chiefs of state in Europe during the EU summit in Copenhagen in December 2002.
